Hypnotism.
Hypnotism and Mesmerism are synonymous terms, the former taking its name from Dr. Franz Mesmer, who in 1773 advanced the theory that some individuals might be rendered temporarily unconscious by others, and the latter term was used by Mesmer of England, who being an able observer of mesmerism, applied the term Braidism or hypnotism which in reality differs only slightly from mesmerism.
Dr. Mesmer claimed that this state was a species of animal magnetism and that the passage of powerful magnets over the surface of the body of some people would place them in a trance state. This is the original theory which bears the term mesmerism.
This act of placing one in the temporarily unconscious state was looked upon as a species of witchcraft and was absolutely forbidden by the French and German Governments. Commissioners were appointed by the French Government to investigate the matter, and Benjamin Franklin was one of them but it was not until 1840 that the subject received much attention. Before this time it was considered dangerous to the morals of the people. In fact, it is been used by clairvoyants and quacks as a branch of the healing art.
It has been degraded and remains a comparatively unstudied subject. It is also claimed that it often does harm and produces disagreeable results
on nervous and excitable individuals.
Mesmerism can undoubtedly be induced and is a peculiar mental state, and is based on the predominance of one idea over all others. The mind is so absorbed and fixed on this one idea that the subject is removed by all outside influences.
The popular belief in the mesmerizer and his exercise of power by the use of his will to produce various effects, is somewhat erroneous. The individual must "give himself up" entirely, and simply be influenced afterwards by the mesmerizer. This is sometimes produced by fixing the attention on any small bright object held close to the face, in a few minutes the person will become very sleepy and the eyes lids droop. It is also found there is a remarkable exaltation of one or more of the senses, so the person is ready to receive suggestions implied in the voice of the mesmerizer.

The person mesmerized presents a peculiar appearance; at first there is restlessness, faintness and trembling,
and turning upward of the eyes balls, and finally sleep. The susceptibility of individuals varies, and some are more susceptible than others. It is only about one in twenty who may be so influenced, while others state the susceptibility of individuals to be a greater per cent.
Stories are often told of individuals who after looking fixedly at others will be in them a form of mesmerism state.
The story is told of a man, who, sitting in a large audience, by looking at a lady caused her to fall asleep.
Every individual exerts an unconscious influence upon others, is a known fact. Along this line comes the often suggested performance of the contagion of a gape. In all the conditions of mesmerism the directing power of the will is suspended, and the individual is in a state of exalted excitement and reflex power of the cerebrum stimulated. The mind is in a condition to receive ideas from outside, suggestions through the senses or evolved by the inner consciousness of the individual.
The mind must be entirely given up to that which may be before it at the time.
This exerts an uncontrolled directing power over the actions, there being no antagonistic agency to keep it in check.

FEYERBURN.
Dunn-Eastman.
Edna Eastman, one of Fryeburg's most attractive daughters, was united in marriage to George Elliott Dunn of Boston on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 28, at the First Congregational church. The bride is the daughter of Tobias Eastman and Mrs. Adelia Walker Eastman.
She was graduated from Fryeburg Academy in the class of 1906, and spent the years 1907-8 in the State College, taking a special course in domestic science.
Mr. Dunn's native place is Thomaston.
He is a graduate of the Thomaston
high school, and of Rockland Business College. For eight years he has successfully filled a business position in Boston.
The old church, where for a century the ancestry of the future bride was made beautiful by fir trees, ferns, garlands of evergreen and a wealth of yellow autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, arranged by Clara Page and Abby Ballard.
Charlotte Pike was the organist. At half past three the strains of the splendid march of Lohengrin, the bridal procession entered the church. The bride was escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage. Her sister, the matron of honor, Mrs. Reta Lord Thompson, preceded the bride, and following came the bridesmaids, Jessie Walker of Fryeburg and Mildred Walton of Newtonville, and the ushers, James Walker, Edwin Page of Fryeburg, Walter Hewitt and Frank Elliott of Boston. Before the altar, the bride groom, attend-by his best man, Clara Eastman of Boston, awaited the bride-maid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Wilson, pastor of the church, the double ring service being used.
Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the bridal party left the church. The bride was carrying in a simple empire gown of white crepe de châle, with flowing veil and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.
She wore a single gem, a beautiful anethyst pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. The bride's gift to the matron of honor was a pair of gloves; to the bridesmaids, gold clasp pins with monograms.
The bridegroom's gift to his best man was an amethyst scarf pin, and to the ushers gold clasp pins with monograms.
The matron of honor wore white messaline and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore white lingerie dresses over yellow with bouquets of white chrysanthemums. Mrs.
Eastman's gown was a Dutch blue messaline. Many of the guests were dressed in white making a pretty picture against the deep green and sunshiny yellows of the decorations.
Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the residence of Mr. Eastman. Mr. Dunn and his bride received the guests, assisted by the matron of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Eastman, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dunn.
Refreshments served by Marion Wilson of Portland, Eliza Wilson of Thomaston and Blanche Thoms of Fryeburg.
Mrs. Alice Bunnell had charge of the guest book. Many beautiful gifts of silver, silver, cut glass and china were received.
Mr. and Mrs. Dunn will make their home on Frederick Road, South Brain-tree, Mass., and will at home to friends after January 1, 1912.

Fryeburg academy, has been in town.
Susan Charles, a former resident of Fryeburg, is a guest of Hannah Osmond.
The guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fox at their camp Sunday.
Paul Newman, who has been traveling in the West for Little, Brown & Co., is at home for two weeks.
Alton Wood is having two week's vacation. Part of it will be spent in Massachusetts, visiting his friends and relatives.

teach singing Wednesdays, beginning with Nov. 8th. See adv.

Fashionable Veils.
Already more veils are being worn by smartly dressed women. They are at present obscuring whatever style of veil suits their individual fancy.
Dotted veillings in simple and fancy meshes and the plain hexagons in a heavy mesh are very becoming types.
Lace veils are in every variation of the cobweb or shadow designs. Those in large patterns are much worn and are usually in the shadow mesh with a silk-net design in the form of a border, in scroll effect, or in a scattered all-over design.
The new purple and emerald green veillings are vivid and give dashiness to an otherwise somber hat. There is an advantage in this method of acquiring color for a hat. The veil can be removed at will; colored trimmings could not.
As veillings are getting back to the beautifying variety, and as the small hat worn off the face is a fashionable one this fall, and as such hats require veils to give them style, a close, tidy arrangement is necessary; for this only a small-mesh, smart, dotted veil is suitable. The all-black veil with a dainty mesh and tiny silk or velvet or chenille dot and the black dotted white veils are used with these hats.
Tinted veillings, in which there is a faint tracery in black, are among the complexion veillings in the shadow effects. One in flesh pink with inter-singing halftones and tiny shadow squares of black is a favorite. When worn, the black design shows very faintly and the soft pink of the groundwork blends in with the skin tints, enhancing the latter appreciably.
These flesh-pink veils with dainty touches of black here and there are seen.
Fillet meshes on which are wrought
large chantly foliage and floral designs are among the new veillings. On a large leaves which holds a veil away from the face the style is a smart one.
Shetland or silk-finish veillings are the varieties which are most effectively used as drapes, owing to their soft, clinging qualities. Among the drapes with borders are those with a cobweb mesh, others with a bold round mesh,
and still others with a dainty fine mesh.
For auto and traveling wear there are the waterproof chiffon cloth veils,
which protect from rain, dust and wind.
They are in all the leading shades, including the popular purple and green.
Some of these veils have woven borders;
others are really hemstitched. The usual dimensions are two yards long and one yard wide. The advantages of a waterproof veil of enveloping proportions do not need to be enlarged upon.

Augusta, Oct. 31, 1911.
Pursuant to Chap. 8, Sec. 44, of the Revised Statutes, as amended, by Chap. 225 of the Public Laws of 1909, I will at the Treasurer of State's office at Augusta, on the twenty-second day of November next, at 11 o'clock a. m., sell and convey by deed to the highest bidder, all the interest of the State in the tracts of land hereinafter described, lying in unincorporated townships, said tracts having been forfeited to the State for non-payment of taxes. County and State for the year 1901. The sale and conveyance of each tract will be made subject to a right in the owner or part owner whose rights have been forfeited, to redeem the same at any time within one year after the sale, by paying or tendering to the purchaser his proportion of what the purchaser paid therefor, plus the sale with interest at the rate of twenty per cent. per annum from the time of sale, and the dollar for release, or such owner may redeem his interest by paying as aforesaid to the Treasurer of State as provided in Chap. 8, Sec.
44, of the Revised Statutes.

No tract, however, will be sold at a price less than the full amount of the taxes for such unpaid State, County and Forestry District taxes, interest and costs, as described in the following schedule:

Geo. Kimball, Esq. and Ernest Bean went to Stoneham, Friday, on a deer hunt. Result, two seen, two fired at and none hurt. Joe Pitts and Principal Hamlin go Friday to the former's camp at Upper Kazar near Red Rock mountain, on the same business.

The academy opened Monday, having a vacation since Thursday. The football team went by stage, twenty-three miles to Hebron and played. Score, 6 to 0 against them, the scoring being made in the last two minutes of the game. The excitement was intense even for a close foot ball game. Principal Hamlin and Coach Leonard accompanied the boys, and all speak in the highest praise of the kind treatment they received from Principal Sargent and his teachers and students.

At the New England Fruit Show in Boston, Etta Whitney of East Hebron got 1st and 2nd on Blenheim; 3d on Pound Sweet; 3d on Bailey Sweet.

In starting a dairy herd it is much better to pay two prices for the cows than the other fellow would like to keep than to take the ones he is perfectly willing to part with for a song.

The same difference in atmospheric conditions which relieves the dweller of low and humid sections of his asthma when he removes to a higher and drier country rids horses of the heaves if they make the same change.

One of the largest certified milk dairies in the country, which is located near Boston, is owned and operated by a woman, Mrs. Ware, and is known as the Wareland dairy. This field has been occupied by women in several instances and with eminent success.

There are many who hold that when the farmer in the northern half of the corn belt knows as much about raising alfalfa as he already does about growing corn and oats he will have little trouble in raising the legume. There would seem to be something in the contention.

The most important factor in the choice of a sire for the dairy herd is not the length of his pedigree or a bifurcated name, but the number of pounds of butter fat produced in a year by his dam, his granddam and great-granddam. This will be the only safe guarantee that he will beget better calves of a fixed milk giving habit.

Feeding tests which have been made by two or three experiment stations seem to show that if alfalfa is ground into meal and fed to the dairy cow when the hay is fed in its natural state. Just why this is so is not stated, but it seems to be due to the beneficial effect of the thorough mastication given the coarser feed.

There is no asset with which young folks start out in life which begins to compare in importance and value with good health. In all too many cases we take this endowment as a matter of course, underrate and often despise it and wake up too late to a realization of the fact that we have impaired or destroyed it. It is a pretty good idea to look after our health as we go along.

It is all right to feel a keen interest in the conservation of the country's natural resources in the shape of timber and mineral wealth, but the average farmer has a good deal more pressing conservation problem on his hands in the matter of so handling the homesteaded manures that he will realize their approximate value of $2.25 per ton instead of allowing them to steam and leech and get but one-half or one-third of this amount from them.

With the fur business becoming more and more important each year and trappers getting handsome returns for their pelts, more interest should be taken by both trappers and buyers in a changing of the open season from Nov. 1 to Dec. 1. It is the consensus of opinion among those who have given the matter attention that much fur caught prior to Nov. 20 and classed as upriver would be rated as prime and fetch a much higher price if caught after Dec. 1.

In all too many instances a fellow's attitude on this matter of bovine tuberculosis depends upon whether it is up to him to drink the milk or eat the flesh of animals affected with the disease or whether he has some of them on his hands that he is anxious to get rid of and lose as little as possible.

Contrary to an idea that seems to have got root in the minds of some folk here and there, careful experiments with the tuberculin test prove conclusively that the application of tuberculin will not only not cause tuberculosis in a healthy animal, but has no harmful effect whatever upon an animal that is affected with tuberculosis or other disease.

The one great point in favor of corn silage is that it comes nearer than any other winter ration to duplicating the succulence of the lush grasses of May and June. It is because of this fact that stock is so fond of silage and that the feeding of it results in such a generous milk flow in the dairy cow and the rapid gain in flesh of the other farm animals to which it is fed.

If the writer ever had any doubt that birds know a good thing when they see it, it was dispelled last season when he noted the certainty with which they singled out the ripest and reddest checked peaches and devoured them completely, leaving nothing but the pit hanging to the limb. Other fruit in garden and on mountain slope was scarce at the time, and this doubtless accounts for the trespass of these feathered friends.

While it is a mighty fine thing for the farmer to have an automobile and all right for him to do so if he has the money in the bank with which to purchase the machine, it is a very questionable procedure for any fellow who has to increase his indebtedness to buy one. We have in mind a fellow who did just this thing, and in the end it meant that he lost the farm, as he couldn't get his money's worth out of the machine without using it, and he couldn't do this without neglecting the farm work.

DOC PERKINS' REMEDY.

Customer Tried it on Himself Before the Dog Had a Chance.

"SUPPOSE" nothing would have happened if it hadn't been for Bud Willis droppin' the chemicals (speakin' about old Doc Perkins' championing remedy for man and beast, bar none). Mebbe you never heard of it. Fact is, hardly anybody ever did—not that it wasn't a success; but, you see, only one lot was put on sale, and that didn't last more'n two days.

Well, son, in the first place, some fact'ry sent Doc a lot of bottles of chemicals mixed for his drug store, and Bud the learnin' to be a druggist then—he went into the express business afterward, dropped the box into a big tub setting beside the counter and smashed all the bottles galley west.

Don't suppose nothin' would have happened if Doc hadn't got sore and said to Bud, "You quit tonight; you're fired." And Doc thought, "Bud, seein' he was fired, that he might as well have some fun first. And just then Ole Larsen, the Swede, hopped in.

"Ay got sick dawg on house," Ole says. "Ay tank ay skol get some medicine."

"One minute, Mr. Larsen," says Bud. "We've got a shipment of medicine that's just come in, and it'll cure any dog of anything from hydrophobia to hydrotherapy."

And Bud hustled out into the back room, scooped up a dipperful of them mixed chemicals from the tub (he didn't know what they was any more'n a rabbit) and poured the stuff into a bottle.

"Here you are, Mr. Larsen," Bud says. "Give your dog a teaspoonful in a glass of water every hour and see that he drinks it all."

So Ole started off down the road as satisfied as if he'd had a reg'lar doctor's prescription instead of that hog wash out of the tub.

Don't suppose nothin' would have happened if just then A. Sleaver Wobblins from New York hadn't skipped out of Lawyer Higginson's house, where he'd held Mrs. Higginson a set of Edgar Allan Poe de looks for $500. Of course for a minute or two the medicine didn't take no effect, but by the time the book agent reached the front gate Ole was leavin' up and down and cuttin' circles and springin' around like a rabbit. A. Sleaver came out of the front gate, and Ole made a long jump for him and kissed him on both cheeks and knocked him over and began to jump his head on the ground, all the time yellin': "Hooray Svenski! Hooray Norski!" And then Lawyer Higginson, whose wife had just told him what she'd done, rushed out of the house and grabbed the contract for $500 out of Wobblins' pocket and tore it up and telephoned for the police, and afterwards he give Ole a job as janitor in the courthouse.

Natchely when old Doc Perkins heard what them chemicals had done for Ole he wanted to do the same for the rest of sufferin' humanity, and he bottled all the rest that was left in the tub.

It was the same thing that Bud had give to Ole, but it didn't stay on the market for all that. No. About the second day it was on the shelves it et its way through the glass bottles and wasted out on the floor—Horatio Winslow in Puck.

Turning the Tables.

The bridegroom and his bride were starting on their honeymoon. Just as they had taken their seats in the train one of the bridegroom's chums came hastily along to bid him goodbye.

As the young husband extended his hand the friend snatched a handkerchief from his wrist. The groom, and expecting a trick of some kind, and before the practical joker could play the similar trick on the bride he found the other handkerchief snapped around his own wrist. He was chained to the happy bridegroom himself!

"That's a good one against me, Harry," he said, with a sickly smile, "but I shall have to ask you to come to the door with me and get the key for these things. A man on the platform has."

Just then the whistle sounded, and the train started off, and it made no stop for the next fifty miles. Before a similar trick on the bride he found the other handkerchief snapped around his own wrist. He was chained to the happy bridegroom himself!

Caught the Court.

An Irishman was arraigned for intoxication, and after answering the court's request for his name Pat addressed the judge in the flowery language of blarney. In his plea for another chance Pat intermixed his title of "your honor" with "your holiness," "your reverence" and other titles usually applied to those of the clerical garb. Finally, when the stream continued for some minutes, the judge stopped Pat and asked:

"Now, Pat, what is the name of thunder do you think I am?"

Pat hesitated for a moment and, scratching his head as if perplexed, replied:

"Sure, your reverence, judging from your kindly face, I am sure that you can't be anything less than a bishop."

Then amid the laughter of the attendants Pat was discharged.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

He Earned the Money.

A certain pretty girl who lives on a fashionable street in Chestnut hill has a small brother who is, as small brothers are apt to be, the plague of her existence and over whom she attempts to maintain a rigid elder sisterly discipline.

Yesterday afternoon she saw him eating candy.

"Why, Phil," she said, "where did you get that candy?"

"Oh, I bought it," Phil replied airily, and Philip's sister, who knew the deplorable state of his finances, raised her eyebrows suspiciously.

"Where," she began—"where did you get the money?"

Philip whistled. "I earned it," he answered, with great assumption of dignity.

The big sister wondered for a moment, then laughed outright. "You never earned a cent in your life, Phil!" she exclaimed. "You're too lazy for anything. Tell me," very sternly, "where you got that money."

"None o' your business," answered Philip impudently; "you ain't my mother. I tell you I earned it. I did. I earned this all right. I got it from your bean yesterday afternoon when I saw him kissing the baby's nurse. Well, what's the matter? I guess I earned it all right"—Philadelphia Times.

Small Change.

At a dinner given by Andrew Carnegie an eminent judge, seated halfway down the table, was deeply immersed in conversation with his neighbor when the host opened up the subject of the British coinage system and showed signs of wishing undivided attention.

"Every other civilized nation," he declared, "has the decimal system, while England adheres to the absurd and cumbersome table of pounds, shillings and pence." (Rap, rap, rap)

The raps were for the judge, who remained absorbed in his own conversation. "And even farthings," continued the ironmaster—"is there anything else in finance so ridiculous as the farthing?" (Rap, rap)

The judge glanced around somewhat impatiently.

"Judge G." Mr. Carnegie called out, "why do the British continue their coinage of farthings?"

"To enable the Scotch to practice benevolence," Mr. Carnegie returned the judge.—Success Magazine.

The Police Helped.

The young man slipped went out with some friends and pickpockets and dug up the street, while the police automatically diverted the traffic. Then the diggers went home and left the various authorities to correspond and argue as to who was responsible for the roped off areas and the general disorganization.

Jerrold's Jokes.

One has heard many legendary jokes about Thackeray's broken nose, and Mr. Walter Jerrold adds another to the number in his biography, "Douglas Jerrold and Punch." He quotes from a letter which Jerrold wrote to Dilke of the Athenaeum, about the year 1883: "Lady — is trying to convert Thackeray to Romanism. She had better begin at his nose!"

When, on another occasion, Albert Smith drew Jerrold's attention to an article which he had written for one of the magazines and signed "A. S.," he was cruelly asked, "Why do you only tell two-thirds of the truth?"

Of the famous Samuel Foots, caustic wit and practical joker, the following story is given:

Foots tried a joke on the archbishop of Canterbury, who was not to be caught. The actor forwarded a copy of "The Minor" to the primate, a play so gross that Irish audiences would have none of it, though it was a big success in England, with the polite request that if his grace saw anything objectionable in it he would strike it out. But the archbishop sent it back without a mark and declared afterward to a friend that if he had great for the manuscript Foots would have straightway have advertised it "as corrected and prepared for the stage by his grace the archbishop of Canterbury." And, judging by what history tells us of Foots's character, he probably would.

Voices Along the Way.

Lays from the Press.

California is the latest state to act by constitutional amendment (equal suffrage to women) so the influence of this action on the part of this one of the great states of the Union can but be far reaching. Not all the women who are thus endowed will use their endowment, but with California and Washington in the equal suffrage column, it is safe to estimate that not less than 250,000 women voters will cast ballots for a presidential candidate in 1912.

They will be a factor which national parties and national candidates cannot afford to ignore. The equal suffrage movement is one which does not go backward. Suffrage once granted is not taken away. The victory in California means 'other like victories in the near future.

The record of fatal shooting accidents in this country every year is a deplorable one, but so long as infants and idiots are allowed to play with firearms there can be little hope that the average will be kept within reasonable limits.

Nearly every town and city has considerable money invested in buildings used for school purposes. In most towns these buildings can be used for local gatherings, but in the cities where a large proportion of the money is thus invested, there is practically no use of these expensive buildings except for strictly school purposes.

The state of Wisconsin has taken the lead in opening up her school house for the general use of the community, and the plan is working well. Lectures, entertainments, social gatherings, debating clubs, as well as religious meetings are freely held with the result that elderly people as well as the children derive benefit from these buildings.

The finance commission of Boston has considered this matter and recommended a moral general use of school buildings in that city. It will be interesting to watch how far the scheme will be carried, and its results, but it certainly appears to be a move in the right direction.

As the leaves fall from the trees brownish moth nests are becoming visible. Not many are apparent and there has been little trouble from this pest during the last year or two as the campaign vigorously waged against them, coupled perhaps with other causes has reduced the nuisance to a minimum. Nevertheless, they should be fought as long as there are any in sight.

The Post Office Department has announced that letters addressed "To Santa Claus" and forwarded to the dead letter office will not be distributed to charitable organizations, benevolent persons, poor children or others.

Four years ago postmasters were authorized to turn over such letters to charitable persons, but because of many abuses the order has never been renewed. Under the laws and regulations letters to Santa Claus are classed as "frivolous" and returned to the writers or destroyed.

WEST LOVELL.
Mrs. Keyser of Chicago, who has been employed by John A. Fox for two months, has gone to Chatham, N. H., to work for Warren Emerson.

Earl, Merton and Annie Bell of Toll Bridge attended the Halloween entertainment, Saturday night, and spent Sunday with their brother, Leo Bell, and David Bell was at home in Fryburg in the meantime.

There was a supper and Halloween entertainment at the library hall, Saturday evening. The supper was gotten up by the people in attendance and the entertainment by the pupils of the West Lovell school under the supervision of Annie E. York, teacher. They showed a deal of training in preparation of their parts. A fine pot-luck of food and amusement. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Nichols of Medford, Mass., who have been summer guests here for many years and have quite an interest in the school, were very helpful. Mr. Nichols decorated the pumpkins for the hall and Mrs. Nichols presented them with coffee and sugar for the supper and assisted greatly in making the fish pond a success besides assisting with preparing and decorating the hall for the evening's entertainment.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep at night. It was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—MRS. NATHAN B. GREATER, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

LYNCHVILLE.
Silas McKee.

Died in Albany, Oct. 22, Silas McKee. Mr. McKee was born in the town of Stonham on Dec. 26, 1840, and lived there until about 1872, when he moved to Albany, which town has since been his home.

Mr. McKee was a veteran of the Civil War, belonging to Co. E, 1st Regiment of Maine Cavalry volunteers and was discharged in 1865, having served thirteen months. He was a member of Leper's Post No. 136 of Stonham. He was also a member of the Christian church.

In 1890 he married Mentahie McAllister of Stonham, whose death occurred about eleven years ago.

He leaves seven children: Mrs. James Gough, Mrs. Asa Keniston, Mrs. Mary Cobb, Eugene McKee and Fred McKee, all of Albany, Everett McKee of Bethel, and Minnie, who has lived at home and cared for her father during his illness. Besides the children he leaves two brothers and three sisters, several grandchildren and great-grandchildren to mourn his loss.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Oct. 24, at his late home, Rev. W. B. Hague officiating. The members of the George M. Knight Relief Co. ps attended in a body. Among the floral tributes were seventy-one picked from the children of the deceased. He was laid to rest in the family lot in the East Stoneham cemetery.

The school in this district has closed for a week's vacation.

Elliot & Bartlett's pool mill is running only five days in a week.

Gertrude Cobb was called home to attend the funeral of her grandfather, Silas McKee.

LOCKE'S MILLS.
The Mt. Abram Hotel has been purchased by George Tuttle of Rumford.

Mrs. Ira Jordan of Bethel spent Wednesday with Mrs. George Terrell, who is ill.

Walter Swift has gone to the C. M. G. hospital to have an operation performed on his leg.

John Holt of Waterford has moved his family here. He has employment in the mill.

The Sunday school held a social at the hall, Oct. 26th. The financial proceeds were fine.

WEST LOVELL.
Mrs. Keyser of Chicago, who has been employed by John A. Fox for two months, has gone to Chatham, N. H., to work for Warren Emerson.

Earl, Merton and Annie Bell of Toll Bridge attended the Halloween entertainment, Saturday night, and spent Sunday with their brother, Leo Bell, and David Bell was at home in Fryburg in the meantime.

There was a supper and Halloween entertainment at the library hall, Saturday evening. The supper was gotten up by the people in attendance and the entertainment by the pupils of the West Lovell school under the supervision of Annie E. York, teacher. They showed a deal of training in preparation of their parts. A fine pot-luck of food and amusement. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Nichols of Medford, Mass., who have been summer guests here for many years and have quite an interest in the school, were very helpful. Mr. Nichols decorated the pumpkins for the hall and Mrs. Nichols presented them with coffee and sugar for the supper and assisted greatly in making the fish pond a success besides assisting with preparing and decorating the hall for the evening's entertainment.

The Maine Pomological society will meet at Augusta, Nov. 14, 15, 16. Excursion rates on Maine Central and Grand Trunk.

OXFORD.

Grand Division Sons of Temperance.

The 68th annual session of the Grand Division of Sons of Temperance of Maine met on Wednesday with the Oxford Division No. 23. All the divisions in the state were represented.

Officers present were: G. W. P., W. P. Pratt, Portland; G. Scribner, Annie L. Hayes, Chelsea; G. Treas., G. J. Parrott, Oxford; G. Sent., H. S. Burgess, Portland; G. W. Patron, Mary McLean. Vacancies were filled: G. Chap., Dr. Orin Stevens, Oxford; G. Con. Sibbie Hanescom, Oxford; P. G. W. P. Patrick Hayes of Chelsea; Mary McLean.

The regular routine business was attended to in the morning session. A recess was taken at noon for dinner served in the hall by the ladies of the local order.

At the afternoon session four candidates were initiated and reports of various committees given.

The following officers were elected: G. W. P.—W. P. Pratt. G. W. P.—Mary Frost. G. Scribner—Annie L. Hayes. G. Treas.—G. J. Parrott. G. Con.—George Hazen. G. Chap.—Sibbie Hanescom. G. Sent.—H. S. Burgess. G. Patron—Mary McLean.

The installation ceremony was performed by Dept. Most Worthy, Patriarch Patrick Hayes.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the National division which will meet in Maine next July.

An entertainment was given in the evening which consisted of readings by Mrs. Baker of Portland and instrumental music by Alice Oliver of Canton and Flossie Eaton. A quartette composed of Geo. Jones, Perley French, Ida Stone and Charlotte Wardwell rendered two selections and solos, Lulu Stone accompanied. At the call of G. W. Pratt, speeches were made by Patrick Hayes, R. S. C. Eaton and George Hazen.

Refreshments of ice cream and crackers were served during a social that concluded the exercises.

He leaves a widow and a daughter. Mr. French was about 70 years of age.

How to know good Flour.

Some flour is very adulterated. You can find this out for yourself. Take a handful and squeeze it. If it goes into a lump it is good, because starch; but if it falls away it is poor.

Free If It Fails.

Your Money Back if You are not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic, may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxative or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To get permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall's Oedipal or our famous Little Medbury of Lynn. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels.

They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if not taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 30 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Norway only at our store—The Rexall Store, R. P. Stone, 143 Main street Norway, Me.

Potato Crop Smaller.

The New England Homestead Estimates Total Yield in United States at 242,000,000 Bushels.

The total crop of potatoes in the United States is placed at 262,000,000 bushels, against revised estimates covering the crop of 1910 of 311,000,000 bushels.

Total acreage devoted to potatoes in United States compares well with that of last year, the area being 3,394,000 acres against 3,323,000 in 1910. Shipments from Arrostook county began on October 4, 1900, bushels had been shipped, or, roughly speaking, one-third of the crop of merchantable stock.

In the large potato-producing stock, such as Maine, the acreage this year was 123,000, against 117,000 in 1910, with Michigan 303,000, against 325,000; Wisconsin 242,000, against 250,000; Iowa 175,000, against 160,000; Minnesota 150,000, against 148,000; New York 105,000, against 125,000; Pennsylvania 110,000, against 100,000; Ohio 170,000, against 172,000; Nebraska 100,000, against 90,000; Kansas 90,000, against 87,000.

Trusted Thread.

Waxing the thread by running it over a bit of beeswax is the proper way to avoid this trouble; but wax sometimes discolors the thread slightly and is not always desirable on that account.

For either silk or cotton thread you can use the same as wax, a small piece can use the same as wax, a small piece of pure white soap that is perfectly dry. This makes the thread slip through the material very easily and absolutely prevents twisted knots.

Causes Much Disease.

Advice About Stomach Trouble and how to Relieve them.

Do not neglect indigestion which may lead to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent physician once said that ninety-five per cent. of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be among the most dependable remedies known for the relief of indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is very prompt. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time tends to bring about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorder.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets help to induce healthy appetite, to aid digestion, and thus promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store. The Rexall Store, F. P. Stone, 143 Main street, Norway, Me.

Drop a word of cheer and kindness—But a flash, and it is gone. But there's half a hundred apples circling on and on.

Oxford County Crops.

Stephen Abbott of Bethel writes thus for Oxford County for the Final Crop Reports in the Maine Farmer:

About the average quantity of hay was raised this year. Some fields were badly dried and were not mowed at all, while the intervals add meadows were heavy.

Not quite so much grain sown this year as common. But little threshing done yet. Yield lighter than common. Considerable field corn raised. Most fields were well along when the frost struck them. There has been poor drying weather. More sweet corn was raised than common and a lot of corn contracted for wasn't taken by the packers, and the growers are feeling sore about it, and rightly.

Silos are common in this vicinity. The summer silo hasn't come into use as yet. Dent corn is mostly grown for the silo, although sweet corn fodder and some yellow corn are put in. Japanese millet is sown considerably.

Soiling crops are raised to some extent. Dent corn, Hungarian and Japanese millet are the crops grown for this purpose.

Not so many acres of potatoes as common were grown this year. Yield about an average. Cultivation at digger is good. Crops mostly stored. No potato houses in this vicinity. Price, 60 to 70 cents per bushel.

An average yield of apples, quality good. Don't think there was much spraying done. No new insects found. Fall leaf web worm with the codling moth have done the most noticeable injury. Brown-tails were well taken care of last winter. Buyers are hustling with seemingly undue haste for all the apples they can get out of at $1.55. But it is hard to find out whether many growers have sold at that price.

There is not much change in the live stock situation, about the same amount being kept. There are a few pure bred herds. Although cattle are kept mostly for the dairy, the beef type seem to mostly prevail.

There are quite a number of colts being raised; about equal numbers of draft and driving. No mules raised. The most popular breeds of poultry at present seem to be Barred Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Wyandottes and Game breeds. It has been a very successful season with some, and there are many who specialize for winter eggs.

Grange stores and co-operative associations receive but little support. Individuals send carloads of potatoes at times.

BALKED AT COLD STEEL.

"I wouldn't let a doctor cut my foot off," said H. D. Ely, Bantam, Ohio, "although a horrible ulcer had been the plague of my life for four years. Instead of using Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and my foot was soon completely cured." Heals Burns, Boils, Sores, Bruises, Eczema, Pimples, Corns, Sore Pile cure 25c at The Noyes Drug store. 44-47

The Egg-Eating Hen.

The egg-eating habit among hens seldom occurs when the fowls have free range.

Sometimes during the winter months when there is a large number of hens in a too small coop, the habit is formed by the breaking of eggs in the nest.

Often the nest boxes are too few, or so arranged that biddy must hop down upon the eggs when going on to lay, and breaks the egg, in which case she is more than likely to eat them and so learns to like the taste and will pick open an egg on purpose now and then.

The habit is also formed through carelessness in throwing egg shells out at the back door, when cooking, where the hens pick them up.

When chicks are hatching, the shells should not be thrown carelessly about, but should be thrown carefully into the ash-box of the kitchen range and let until they are brittle and browned, then broken into small pieces.

They can then be thrown out in large piles of ashes where the hens can root and scratch in among them and not know what the shells are. In this way they will do no harm and will make grit to form more eggs.

Not enough animal food will sometimes cause the egg-eating habit, or, perhaps from not having enough nourishing food of any kind supplied. Underfed hens will get the habit of picking at anything.

Milk is a good food and will take the place of meat when the latter is not at hand.

Clean hay and cooked vegetables and bran wet up with hot water. Oats and rye thrown into a good supply of chaff to keep them busy, plenty of ground bone and oyster shells and a clay coop with all this attention, you will find biddy not inclined to eat her eggs.

The Cause of Colds and a Safe Cure.

A common cause of many colds is the sudden checking of the unconscious perspiration by exposure to a change of temperature. Colds, whether taking the form of Coryza with sneezing, running nose, and perhaps sore throat, or with chills and feverish symptoms, should never be neglected in the earliest stages, serious illness often results from such neglect.

It is well to get early to bed, to get the body well warmed, and most important to have the bowels move freely. There is no safer or better remedy to use at the beginning of a cold than "L. F." Atwood's medicine. Two or four teaspoonfuls will quickly relieve congested conditions, drive out impurities from the system and ward off further trouble. Always keep a bottle in the house. Any dealer will supply you for thirty-five cents. If you have never used them, write today for a free sample to the L. F. Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.
